

Cytokine storm in COVID-19

Three grades of illness

A subgroup of severe COVID-19 patients experience cytokine release syndrome (CRS, also known as cytokine storm), where cytokines that coordinate the response to infection and trigger inflammation are released in excessive amounts. If uncontrolled, CRS can lead to tissue damage and patient death.

